The following letter from the Superintendent of the Maine Telegraph Company, is another proof of the superiority of JOHN E. WILDER'S Safes over all others:

BANGOR, Oct. 14, 1848.

John E. Wilder, Esq.—

Dear Sir—The Safe I purchased of you was exposed to a great degree of heat at the burning of the Telegraph Office, a few days since. It was in the room where the books and papers were subjected, and the damage to the Safe (very slight) although it fell from the second story to the bottom of the building. The little repairs necessary to the Safe have been made, and we shall not hesitate to return it. It is still as good as new.

Railroad Subscriptions.

We learn that the Directors of the Penobscot and Kennebec Railroad have received assurance, that upon two hundred thousand dollars of the stock in this road being taken up in this city and vicinity, double that amount would be taken up elsewhere, and the road be immediately constructed. When no difficulty would be experienced in planning the rails and other properties for the exceptional. These assurances have given the Directors much encouragement, and they have appointed two enterprising and intelligent merchants of this city, Messrs. Henry A. W. and James Dunning, as the sole agents to receive subscriptions to the stock, and they have entered upon their duties. They have already obtained a very handsome subscription, and will continue their labors, we doubt not, until the whole amount of the stock is taken up.

The citizens of Bangor, the business men, the mechanics, the owners of real estate and others feel that Bangor cannot longer remain without a communication with the railroad system of the country, and the benefits resulting from the iron river. The time has come when the necessity for such connection presses with an imperative force. The time for action has arrived, and a demand for the capital of the city to be employed in the construction of the road. Not only Bangor but many other towns in the vicinity and east of the Penobscot are interested and should feel like giving the enterprise a helping hand, by investing in the stock a portion of their capital. The construction of the road will unfold new resources and make them available; will awaken new interest, and, instead of retarding, will rather encourage new enterprises. It will open a large tract of country for the business of Bangor, and by permitting our people to supply them with coal, salt, molasses and other articles of trade, and to receive their surplus productions in return.

The agents for procuring the subscriptions to the stock of this road have opened an office in this city, under the Eastern Bank, where they will be happy, at any time to meet the friends of this enterprise. They are satisfied that the stock will pay six per cent when the road is completed, and the more they investigate the subject the better the prospect appears.

On Thursday evening next, there is to be a public meeting at the City Hall, to which the Ladies are invited, for the purpose of considering the subject of the immediate construction of the railroad from Bangor to Waterville. The benefit it will be to stockholders, and the advantage to labor and business. Several popular speakers have been engaged to address the meeting. Bangor begins to be incredulous, but has no thought of being fettered by any particular interests, and if she cannot be allowed to use her credit she is determined to employ her capital and to go forward, independently, in her own unfailing strength.

The movement in favor of the railroad and the energy that recent events have stimulated, have already begun to effect the value of real estate, and bonds have been taken of several parcels of real estate at an advance price, and many persons suppose that the completion of the road will cause a permanent advance in real estate of at least twenty-five per cent. It ought to do so for, real estate in this city, and particularly in the suburbs is ridiculously low compared with almost any other city in the whole country.

☞ The season of vegetation is very rapidly approaching. The buds begin to open and the flower beds are decked in their beauties. The snow drop, and the various colored crocus. The Hyacinths are soon to follow as they are putting forth their blossom buds. This is the season for transplanting fruit and ornamental trees and shrubs. The nurseries and seed stores are well supplied, and we trust that no one will permit the season to pass without securing some of these vegetable treasures to adorn their grounds and add their luxuries and beauties to the attractions of the homestead. We would refer our readers generally to our advertising columns for information as to where they may obtain such trees, shrubs, seeds and implements as they may need.

☞ Dr. Aaron Young's "Pantophist," which has heretofore been published monthly, gratuitously, at Lewiston Falls, is henceforth to appear each week as a subscription paper at fifty cents a year. It will go for those parties, measures and issues and principles, which will secure the largest sale of his choice medicines and confections, hoping in this way to heal all the world's infirmities, or at least to secure back to his own boots, which, with his assurance to shoot the same thing.

☞ Mr Kendall, writing from Paris says, a fight occurred at Louis Napoleon's great ball between a Frenchman and a Spaniard, because the former tore with his spurs the dress of the lady with whom the latter was dancing. Mr. Kendall says "It was a poor place to introduce such articles as spurs; yet I presume there were at least a thousand pair attached to the heels of the French and other officers present."

☞ The Yellow fever was prevailing at St Jago de Cuba. Three of the crew of the Isabella Hyne died of it on the passage home.

We would call the attention of our readers to the advertisement in our columns of the New York and San Francisco steamship line by Messrs Davis, Brooks & Co., of New York. This is a reliable company, and those who wish to obtain passage can do so in this City on application to Mr. Charles Chopelin.

☞ A large number of passengers left our city on the steamboats yesterday. The Governor and Boston look as neat and bright as new boats and make a very fine appearance, quite tempting to the traveller, especially when it is free from fifteen to twenty hours to reach Waterville or Augusta in the present bad travelling.

☞ After the next Sabbath, Rev. Mr. Battles, Pastor of the Universalist church in this city, will be absent from the limits of his charge for the space of five months, for the purpose of recruiting his health. Mr. Battles, like too many men in the profession, has overtaxed himself. Rev. Mr. Dillingham of Portsmouth, will supply the pulpit for Mr. Battles.

☞ The Legislature adjourned yesterday morning, and the State is now safe from any more measures of doubtful character and destruction from this body of wisdom which has kept the State in such uncertainty for a year past.

☞ Gov. Kossuth has been enthusiastically received in Massachusetts. He is to deliver a public address in Boston to-morrow evening, and on Thursday evening he is to be the recipient of a Legislative Banquet.

☞ Pell says that he has hope now that the drift will soon get into the position to come down to three feet a day, and that the credit has been annihilated by an article of confidence in the country. The Albany Argus denies the fact, and the Legislature has adjourned.

☞ The dam across Mr Chesley's saw Mill at Lovell's Falls, in Oxford, has been washed away, and the mill damaged to the extent of $1000. A wood was carried away, the two upper bays of the Mill, and some other damages occurred.

Hamilton's Gold Medal Daguerreotype Establishment in Philadelphia, is one of the most extensive and perfect establishments of the kind in the country, particularly the m

Another Latch, 21 [illegible] number of emigrants [illegible] Gold Regions, [illegible] are about to embark at Marseilles for California on board the ship [illegible].

The New York Mirror states that Mr Thomas Cornish has written a work on America which will shortly be published in New York.

☞ The report of the resignation of the Post Master General, is without foundation.

New Orleans, April 20.

The steamer Pocahontas, from Arkansas, bound to New Orleans, with 2,000 bales of cotton on fire on Friday and burned to the water's edge. Boat and cargo a total loss.

Ten persons, including the Sheriff of Arkansas county and three children, the captain boy's family and two Spaniards, were taken care of and saved.

New Orleans, April 20.

We have dates from the city of Mexico to the 3 inst. The Mexican Government is evidently alarmed at the assembling of the Congress of Tamaulipas on the subject of the Tariff. Rumors are current of an expected change in the Mexican cabinet.

The Public Lands of Maine.—It is known that about forty millions of acres of public lands are asked for at this session of Congress by citizens of Western Territories. We have objected to the average quantity of the Union to the grant of the immense lands which constituted resources to pay the war debt, which was in fact the most meritorious cause of their acquisition. Unless some just and equal plan of distribution can be settled upon, it is better to hold the property for further settlement, or give them to actual settlers.—If this, the basis of a measure would meet favor.

If, however, these and other objections are to be overruled, as we see they will be, we suggest a word in favor of the Old Thirteen. And we say it them have been States which, as well as Iowa and Illinois, have two millions each for their Lands, perhaps, somewhere in the Highlands, under or above the ice, we do not know—there is doubtless good deal of building somewhere. But, since the current has set in, it will cannot be stopped. Let us go, toward the Atlantic. We think the claim of Maine is quite as strong as any.—How the poor settler, who has a natural right to a farm somewhere in the Western wilds, think, is to get indeed of it, after all the rich roads shall be satisfied, are not yet appropriated.

Providence is the key to [illegible] day until the lock to shut in the night. But as the dark drop the early dew upon the grass, yet it would [illegible] spring, and grow green by that constant [illegible] double raining of day, unless some great [illegible] at certain seasons, did supply the [illegible] the customary devotion of prayer [illegible] day in the failure of the early and latter [illegible] rain will increase and flourish in the means of grace enjoy the great clouds [illegible] sanctions and let them fall into a rich shower of prayer; then shall our harvest plain proper [illegible] like Jordan in time of harvest.

Frankness.

The penalty of buying cheap clothes, is the same as that of getting low the certainty of losing your suit, and having to pay for it.

The penalty of marrying, is a mother-in-law.

The penalty of remaining single, is having no one to "care a button" for you, as is abundantly proved by the state of your shirts.

The penalty of this above is cold.

The penalty of a pretty cook, is an empty [illegible].

The penalty of stopping in Paris, is being [illegible].

The penalty of light boots, is corns.

The penalty of having a large [illegible] of vermin [illegible] is living a dozen friends to come and eat it.

The penalty of popularity, is envy.

The penalty of a baby is sleepless nights.

The penalty of interfering between a man and wife, is abuse, frequently accompanied with blows from both.

The penalty of a godfather, is a silver knife, fork and spoon.

The penalty of kissing a baby is half a trowel, (as Phillips, Jr. [illegible] and liberal,) for the nurse.

The penalty of a public dinner, bad wine.

The penalty of a lawyer, or a fortune is the sudden discovery of a host of poor relations you never dreamt of, and of a multitude of debts you had quite forgotten.

The penalty of loading, is—with a book or an umbrella, the perfect loss of it, with your name to it, the slow payment of it, and with a horse, the latent chance of ever seeing it back again, safe and [illegible].

All things are [illegible] prepared to a well-ordered [illegible].

For the Whig & Courier.

"Mihi sævero, cerebrum [illegible] meum."

"I Know" by this last specific effort has beyond a doubt astonished the whole community. Bah! not so; he has only served to disgust and a small portion of the same, by his egotistical self sufficient remarks. One judging from his elevated manner would almost be led to believe that he once must have been an agent of King Solomon's, or that he was the sole originator of the English Language and had retained for his own private use the copyrights of all the English Grammars now extant.

"I Know," we must admit, is a highly educated man, a finished scholar, but we are extremely sorry that so brilliant a character should make so poor a use of the ppn talent which he has. "I Know," it is our opinion, possessed a more beautiful thought, or a more flowing exterior.

Let him bear in mind that one [illegible] owing to the richness of the soil in which a first takes root, may be more beautiful than another, and the Gods do not bestow their gifts upon all alike.

As to the truth of the case "I Know's" insinuations, reference to Senator Fisk; we refer him to the statement of that honest gentleman, and others contained in the last number of the Augusta Age, and private Mercury. As to divers other things which he could operate upon his like gall and wormwood, time, no doubt, will serve as a healing balm, and in due season bring to his disordered and frenzied mind, relief.

But enough of this. "I Know," we hope, has now imparted his bitterness, or a part of the venom gone; in order to preserve the rest for [illegible] those [illegible] waters; we trust he will wade into his [illegible] them to roving [illegible] satisfaction, the [illegible] covering half his body, but should he be tempted, or desire to astonish the "whole community" once more, (I Mortars Hombres! We fear this [illegible] for [illegible] waiting) his [illegible] influence, we shall save nothing to prevent our domestic hearths, for the wreck of our whole city will then be [illegible] into a single [illegible], all nothing will be heard but the incessant hissing and buzzing of combined locomotives.

Fair Hope.

Bangor, April 26th,

Maine Legislature.

Augusta, April 23.

In the Senate—Resolve in favor of the Canada road, was referred to the next legislature.

Order from the House directing the Treasurer of State not to pay any member of the legislature for his attendance while he has been granted leave of absence by a vote of the branch of which he belongs, was passed in concurrence. Mr. Hall moved to reconsider the motion, and after debate the motion was lost.

Mr. Piper, by leave, laid on the table a bill to incorporate the Kennebunk Bank, Road Company, which was read a first and second time, and after some explanation by Mr. Piper, ordered to be engrossed.

Mr. Spencer called up the Calais loan bill. Mr. Ryder moved to lay the bill on the table and assign to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock.

Mr. Bowden opposed delay, and spoke against the policy of authorizing cities and towns to loan their credit in aid of Railroads and other improvements. He could see nothing to distinguish this case from ordinary appropriations of the kind. Mr. Bell advocated delay, and replied to Mr. Bowden.

The motion to lay on the table prevailed; yeas 16, nays 10.

Finally passed—Bill to establish a Board of Agriculture in relation to appeals for land damages in cases in relation to judgments of justices of the peace, who have deceased or removed from the State; to set off certain territory from the town of Hiram and to annex the same to the town of Denmark; to give paying depositors in the banks which go into the hands of receivers a preference over other creditors; to incorporate the Kennebec and Portland Railroad Company; to incorporate the Androscoggin and Kennebec Railroad Company; to incorporate the Androscoggin and Kennebec Railroad Company; to incorporate the Androscoggin and Kennebec

A Certificate!

BROWN, June 5, 1850.

THIS certifies that I have been totally afflicted with sore and inflamed eyes, and having used several kinds of Eye Water without any relief, I offered to was induced to try a bottle of MANSFIELD'S, which entirely cured them and also cured one of my children's eyes, who was blind a year ago, last fall. I procured another bottle, and carried it into the woods with a crew of Lumbermen. Four or five of the men in the gang were troubled with sore eyes. All were cured that used it, and would advise every person who runs in the woods and Rivers to use it. Having so easy to a article will speak. I will refer to Mr. Warren Mason of Bangor, and the firm he is in employ. This certificate is entirely voluntary, and I give it for the use of the afflicted.

WARRANTED PURE
COD LIVER OIL.

Joseph Burnett, Apothecary,
No. 33 Tremont Row, Boston,

OFFERS the pale and pure Oil of the Cod Liver, prepared at Chemical Laboratory, Newfoundland, expressly for Consumptive, Scrofulous and Rheumatic affections, and in all cases of debility, the result of impoverished blood. Physicians are acknowledged by the most eminent of the Medical Faculty, and others, as the purest and best preparation ever offered to the public.

None but Healthy Cod.

Of these only the OILS are selected for this Oil. The livers are carefully examined, and those only which are perfectly healthy are used. The Oil is prepared by a process entirely new, and is entirely free from the disagreeable taste and smell which renders the use of the Oil so nauseous to the stomach.

400 CASES OF CONSUMPTION, in the last month, have been cured by the use of this Oil, as published in the Medical Journal of Medicine, that "As the result of experience, as proved by the use of the Oil, it is evident that the Pure Fresh Oil, from the Liver, the Cod, is to be preferred in the treatment of Pulmonary Consumption, to any other cod-liver oil, or fish oil, or organic extract that has yet been offered to the public."

That which is the object of this invention is to produce the High Reputation of the Oil, by the following process:

THE GENUINE COD LIVER OIL,

as at present prepared, is a disagreeable compound, the result of a chemical action on the Oil from the Cod's Liver, and the Whale or Seal Oil that is often mixed with it, which is nearly resemble in appearance the Oil from the Cod's Liver.

An impure Oil, or that prepared from stale or decomposed livers may be productive of the greatest evil, by causing aggravation of disease, derangement of the digestive organs, &c. It is for that the article offered to the public by this Company, Liver Oil, but prepared from fresh livers, and of this nature the advertiser warrants the article offered to him as, results worthy the attention of medical men, and others who suffer from the disease it is expected.
